Congressman McKinley Has Bill for Sale Through the Postoffice.

SUBSTITUTE FOR BANK

Would Also, He Points Out, Give the Government a New Market for Its Paper.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Small investors will be enabled to purchase government bonds from local postoffices in any part of the country if a bill introduced yesterday by Representative William B. McKinley of Illinois becomes a law.

Its author believes the scheme will fulfill to a great extent the functions of a postal savings bank and also will operate as an aid to government financing by furnishing a new market for bonds.

Panama Paper Provided For.

The bill authorizes the secretary of the treasury to dispose of the Panama canal bonds in denominations of $5, $50 and $100, payable 50 years from date and bearing interest at not more than 3 per cent. He is directed to offer these bonds for sale by popular subscription at not less than par to all citizens of the United States at first, second and third class postoffices. Postmasters are authorized to receive written subscriptions for such bonds, the subscriptions being forwarded to the secretary of the treasury and the bonds apportioned by lot.

WHAT'S THE USE?

We work and scrape and save and pinch

To get upon some coin a cinch. And flourish like the man next door. Although we vote that man a bore. And wonder why the chump's alive. Still to outdo him hard we strive. Then when we get our little store. We wish that we could make it more.

By day we gather up our pile. By night we strive a claim to file. Upon some half-suspected board. On which, as yet, no man has scored. Toward money all our labors bend—And all to what unworthy end? Do we enjoy it? Not a bit! We've shivered till the joys don't fit.

We pinch a dollar into bits. Ere it upon its errand flits. Till those around about us sigh—Then maybe we curl up and die. So what's the use? Let others seek To save a fortune week by week. Why should we struggle to that end? When we can borrow from a friend? —Chicago News.

THIEF WHO STOLE $173,000 IS SAFE

Statute of Limitations Will Now Protect Man Who Robbed Chicago Subtreasury.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—The thief who stole $173,000 from the Chicago subtreasury Feb. 18, 1907, is now immune from criminal prosecution, the statute of limitations having expired yesterday. The only recourse of the government now is to locate the thief and institute civil action to recover the money.

When the federal grand jury adjourned yesterday without having brought an indictment against anyone for the theft, secret service men watched telegraph and telephone offices in vain for the "flash" which would tell the thief of his immunity, but none was located. Shortly before the theft in Chicago an equally mysterious theft occurred at the St. Louis sub-treasury, when $61,000 was stolen. The thief in this case has never been apprehended.

HADLEY-STONE ROW WARM

Missouri Governor Offers to Resign if Recount Shows Senator Nominated.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 19.—Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri has staked his official position on the truth of his assertion that Senator Stone was not honestly nominated. He last night issued a statement in which he offered to resign if a recount of the ballots showed that Mr. Stone had been honestly nominated. He also offered to pay the cost of the recount.

This statement was in reply to the answer of Senator Stone to Hadley's demand that the senator consent to a recount of the senatorial primary ballot and resign if the recount showed he was not honestly nominated over Joseph W. Folk.

According to dispatches from Washington Senator Stone followed this answer by a new statement, declaring the charge of Hadley to be "ridiculous." Stone declared Hadley made the demand for a recount "for spectacular effect, knowing that the recount could not be legally made at this time."

ROUSSEAU'S SHYNESS.

An Experience the Composer Had in a Country Inn.

On one occasion Rousseau composed an opera, which was performed before King Louis XV. and met with the royal approval. The king sent for him, and if he had put in an appearance he would probably have obtained a pension. He was, however, of a retiring disposition and could not bring himself to face the court. To his friends he gave as a reason his republican opinions, but his real reason was his shyness.

Accordingly he fled from the court and sought the privacy of a country inn. While he was there a man came in who began telling the company that he was the celebrated Rousseau and proceeded to give an account of the opera, which, he said, had been performed before the king with great success.

Most men in Rousseau's position would have felt nothing but contempt for the impostor, but this extraordinary man felt only pity and shame. "I trembled and blushed so," he tells us in his "Confessions," "for fear the man should be found out that it might have been thought that I was the impostor." He was afraid that somebody might come in who knew him and expose the pretender. At last he could bear it no longer and slipped out unobserved.

Very few people would treat an impostor like that.—Westminster Gazette.

of Spring now and then the thermometer climbs up above 50 degrees. Spring has a way of notifying us a little in advance of its own formal arrival, and though there may still be blizzards in store for us, a gentle hint like balmy weather is a notice to complete your spring preparations.

We have been thinking of spring and planning for spring for so many weeks that it really is spring here. Every new box of goods that comes from any of the freight houses or off the express wagons, says spring, spring, and they are coming thick and fast. You see the evidences all over the big store. All the new models of 1910 spring corsets, many of the new spring laces, all of the embroideries, lots of new wash fabrics, spring hosiery, gloves, underwear, millinery. The new styles the new fabrics, the new colors, are blossoming out in nearly every section.

Miss La Porte and nearly all of the McCabe millinery force, have returned from viewing the latest millinery creations and will be in their places ready to serve you on Monday and thereafter. Hundreds of cases of new millinery have been arriving the past few days and are being made ready for your inspection—only a hint of what may be expected.

AGNES ELKINS DIES FROM SHOT

Refusal of Consent to Stage Career Cause of Suicide of Senator's Niece.

Kansas City, Feb. 19.—Miss Agnes Leslie Elkins, niece of United States Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia, died at a hotel here last night as a result of a bullet wound she inflicted upon herself last Wednesday in attempting suicide.

Dependancy over the refusal of relatives to consent to her becoming an actress is given by the woman's friends as the cause for her suicide. She had studied music and is said to have a good voice. She obtained a part in a play, but Senator Elkins is said to have influenced her to give it up.

Miss Elkins carefully planned her suicide. She gave a farewell party to her friends a few hours before she shot herself. She jested with them about a plan she had to kill herself. After dismissing her guests she wrote a letter to the newspapers explaining that she was tired of life.
